

MAX 1999 data are available for all states and the District of Columbia. Use of claims data on payments and utilization may be limited in some states due to the high numbers of state eligibles who are enrolled in prepaid plans. States are required to submit encounter records for services provided to eligibles in prepaid plans. However, CMSO analyses indicate that encounter reporting lacks the consistency and completeness to support many research activities.